To Whom It May Concern

Re: Letter of Recommendation Aaron Carlson Architectural Woodwork

I have been working with Aaron Carlson Architectural Woodwork over the past three years on several of our larger key projects. We first were introduced to them back in 2005 by one of our existing clients, Carlson Companies. They had insisted on using only the best trade companies in the cities for the executive suite of their CEO and their preferred millwork vendor was Aaron Carlson. We were thrilled by their level of detail and the quality commitment of their staff, and in particular their project manager, Nate Krueger.

That project started a relationship with Aaron Carlson Company that has continued to build over the past few years. We recently successfully completed another corporate headquarters building with a large millwork package including wood paneling at the executive floor, a large custom conference room table which seats 30 and a three story atrium filled with walnut. Again, Aaron Carlson exceeded our expectations and their work has thrilled our client and their architect.

They were recently nominated in our company for our quarterly Super Sub Award, a recognition that we give to only the top players in the Twin Cities contracting community.

To conclude, I give Aaron Carlson my highest recommendation. Our team at Stahl cannot think of another partner that we would team with that provide the quality and service like Aaron Carlson.

Please contact me directly if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

STAHL CONSTRUCTION COMPANY
